Beecher Hall

Beecher Hall, constructed in 1829, was the first college building in Illinois. It has been in continuous use since it was erected.

It was also the location of the first medical school in Illinois which was established in 1841 and opened to students in 1843.

A great many people of historic importance, including the two Governors Yates, William Jennings Bryan, John Wesley Powell, and many others, have been associated with this building. The College itself has had 18 United States Representatives, two United States Senators, and five governors of various states who attended here; all of them would have been in one way or another associated with this building.

In the beginning it was the only college structure.
